Product Description

A fight with several participants can be a confusing affair. So that neither the player nor the game master lose track, we offer you acrylic marker sets with which you can depict the positions of the combatants in order to keep conflicts and other scenes clear. If two markers are close together on a game board, the corresponding combatants are within range for close combat. This set contains a total of 12 acrylic markers for 10 different plant creatures from the Aventurian Herbarium I + II or the anthology Archive of Herbs. They are ideal for depicting battle scenes - for example in an enchanted forest with territorial woodsmen or in laboratories of sinister alchemists who have their treasures guarded by mandrake homunculi or plant chimeras. To use the Acrylic Marker Set - Archive of Herbs, we recommend the publications of the Tools of the Master series. Caution! Not suitable for children under 36 months.

Included in the Acrylic Marker Set - Archive of Herbs are:- 1 Mandrake Homunculus, the root male of the great alchemists- 1 Marwold, corrupted nature- 1 young Arkhobal, a tree demon- 1 full-grown Arkhobal, a tree demon- 1 Kah-Thurak-Arfai, the night demon from the jaguar lily- 2 Swamprances; victim of the cursed morning briar- 1 astral spirit, manifestation of magic in magical plants- 1 dryad, guardian of the trees- 1 plant chimera- 2 woodchats from the ancient tree people
