Product Description

Long live the central cemeteryby Ingrid DinkelThat's enough! Recently, the fifth gravestone mysteriously disappeared from the Central Cemetery. Rumours are doing the rounds: who steals gravestones? Especially how? Or is it even the dead themselves? The outraged relatives and the press, who have been listening closely, meet at the cemetery administration and loudly demand clarification. People are urgently needed to take on such delicate problems...The Mystery of the Rose Towerby Nadine May01:03 a.m. - the pendulum of the clock on the Rose Tower stops. As it has every night for almost three months. Albert Miller, the city's imperial clock commissioner with 40 years of professional experience, is at his wit's end. He has tried everything to repair the tower clock. The desperate man fears for his reputation and job, and now calls in other experts to help...
