Product Description

Serenissima - that is the nickname of the lagoon city of Venice. The volume Serenissima Sinistra for HeXXen 1733 sheds light on the dark, mysterious and often deadly side of this magnificent city. Mysterious gondoliers, intrigues among the aristocratic upper class, the carnival with its debauched decadence, face thieves who emerge from the canals at night and attack the inhabitants, magic mirrors and mechanical lions - all of these things characterise Venice. And then there is the baroque splendour of the so-called Paduanik, a special form of Sorbonnik, which bathes the city in the cold blue glow of the Paduanik lanterns at night. Venice is certainly worth a visit - not only in the real world, but definitely also in the world of HeXXen 1733. Like all regional volumes, the volume is divided into three parts. The first part describes the city from an in-game perspective and introduces, among other things, the playable profession of Paduanian. The second part sheds light on the secrets and monsters of the city for the HeXXenmeister. The third part comprises an exciting detective adventure that sends the hunters all over the city, where they not only discover the golden side of the city, but are increasingly confronted with the terrible truth.
