Product Description

'I'm learning syllables'With 'I'm learning syllables', children learn to recognise letters, name syllables, form words and expand their vocabulary in a fun way. From the age of 4, children begin to recognise letters and read words. Dividing words into different syllables is a step that the child only learns after they have learnt to read the words. 'I learn syllables' starts right here with 6 different little games that can be played alone or together. This way, the child can practise at home what they are learning at school or kindergarten
