The Mercedes-Benz SK (Schwere Klasse) was produced by the renowned German automotive company from the late 1980s to the early 1990s. Available in various configurations, including the esteemed 6x4 chassis, which was enhanced by the introduction of the "Eurocab" cabin, featuring innovative and functional design elements. This cabin was characterized by a raised roof, improving onboard amenities, visibility, and driving comfort. Initially introduced on the 500 HP engine version, the new cabin was progressively extended to the rest of the lineup. Despite its increased height, fuel consumption costs were mitigated through meticulous aerodynamic research. It found extensive use in numerous commercial and industrial applications, enjoying significant commercial success. - Type Trucks- Period from '90- Country Germany- SKILL 4- Model Dim. 24,6 cm- Box Dim. 373 x 241 x 96 mm
